New York Man, Mother Fatally Crushed By Tank Trailer

Driver Held On Count Of Manslaughter

Tobyhanna—A New York man and his mother were crushed fatally when a tank-trailer rolled over on their convertible yesterday morning.

The accident occurred at 6 a. m. four miles north of here on Route 611.

The victims were pulled dead from the wreckage after three tow trucks managed to hoist the tank-trailer off the top of the car. They were William C. Seyboldt, 32, of 74 Smith St., Freeport, N. Y., and his mother, Mrs. Madeline D. Sherwood, 59, of the same address.

The driver of the tractor-trailer was booked on what Mount Pocono State police said was a technical charge of involuntary manslaughter.

He gave his name and address as John H. Tuthill, 38, of McLean Blvd., and E. Forty-third St., Paterson, N. J.

The owner of the truck was listed as James P. Ray of Rover Rd., Fairlawn, N. J., operating as Fairlawn Dairies, Fairlawn. Police said the tank was empty.

Only survivor in the wrecked 1953 coupe was a small dog, evidently a family pet, who was discovered whimpering and frightened in the back seat after the crash.

It was not known what became of the dog.

Troopers Joseph Mekuta and James Riley said the son and mother had been visiting in Scranton and were returning home. The highway was icy and coated with a skin of new snow.

According to police the car skidded toward the on-coming tractor-trailer.

Tuthill tried to steer out of the way, troopers said; his trailer started to jack-knife on the icy road.

The convertible struck the trailer in about the middle, police said. The trailer rolled over on top of the car. Tuthill was unhurt.

Dr. E. O. Hendrick of Mount Pocono was summoned. So was a Dr. Warner of Moscow.

Monroe County coroner Dr. Charles H. Rushmore released the bodies to the Wesley-Franklin funeral home, Moscow.

Last rites were administered by Rev. Andrew M. Franks, of St. Ann's Church here. The priest was advised of the crash by a Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot worker who was on his way to work.

Damages were estimated as about $300 to the truck and $2,900 to the car.

The deaths were the second and third motor vehicle fatalities of the year in the Mount Pocono State police territory. The first occurred Jan. 20 near Mount Pocono when a man was struck down by a car as he stood on the slippery highway after a snowstorm.

There have been no other traffic fatalities in the county this year.

Tuthill was taken before Justice of the Peace Emma B. Merwin, Mount Pocono. Bail was set at $5,000. The truck driver was unable to reach his bonding company, and was committed to the county jail about 7 p. m. in default of the bail.

Christine Calls For Fight On Vets' Benefits

Phoenixville (AP)—The commander of the Pennsylvania Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Elmer D. Christine, yesterday urged veterans to use every means available to combat efforts to curtail veterans hospital benefits.

Christine told delegates to the state's 9th district, which comprises Chester and Lancaster counties, that the American Medical Assn. is lobbying in Washington for elimination of compensation by the government for non-service-connected disability and sickness.

"The veterans program is in jeopardy," Christine said, "and we must be militant in our fight to preserve the benefits afforded us by the U. S. government through its Veterans Administration."

Christine, of Stroudsburg, urged veterans to carry their fight to their congressmen.

Action Is Urged

Washington (AP)—Senators Hill (D-Ala.) and Douglas (D-Ill.) said yesterday the time has come for the Eisenhower administration to act swiftly against what they view as a mounting business recession.

SKID was reported as cause of this fatal tangle of metal. Tank trailer jackknifed when driver tried to avoid crash, police said. Car struck trailer in middle, and trailer rolled over on car. Puppy was found alive in back seat of car after wreck. Accident put traffic death toll for Monroe County at three so far this year. (Daily Record Photo)

Physicians Start Medical Aid Checkup For Profession

Cleveland (AP)—Spurred by a physician dying of cancer, the nation's family doctors here have launched a nation-wide project. For better medical care, especially good checkups, for doctors and their families. Dr. Merrill Shaw of Seattle, Wash., vice president of the American Academy of General Practice, suggested the campaign.

Three years ago he discovered himself that he had cancer, and surgery has failed to halt its spread.

Space Station Is Urged By Scientist

Albuquerque (AP)—The United States "better get on the ball quickly" if it is not already working on "a station in space," says Dr. Lincoln La Paz.

La Paz, director of the University of New Mexico's Institute of Meteoritics, published a mathematical discussion of nearby earth satellites, natural and artificial, in the January-February, 1954, issue of the publications of the Astrological Society of the Pacific.

He wrote on employing such satellites to test Einstein's theory of relativity.

But La Paz is concerned with military use of such bodies. In dead earnestness, he declares: "The nation first establishing a station in space will win absolute control of the earth."

"If the Russians do it first, we and the rest of the world will become just as tractable as they want us to be."

Reds Have Gold Rush, Japan Says

Tokyo, Monday (AP)—Japanese repatriates from Russia say a gold rush is on in northeast Siberia where Japanese and German prisoners of war discovered nuggets "sometimes bigger than a kidney bean," the newspaper Sangyo Keizai reported yesterday.

The paper, quoting three Japanese, said the deposit is in the Kolyva Valley of northeast Siberia and is spread over an area larger than Japan.

Lenten Meditation

There was a day, when the crowds were so thick that the Gospel story says "they had no leisure so much as to eat," and Jesus, always aware of the deep needs of His followers, called them to come into a place apart and rest.

The world today is crowding upon each one of us with its goings and comings, with its frenzied appeals and its strident voices. We need to come apart from all of this, and rest.

Lent is an opportunity for spiritual rest. Not just the ceasing from some specific activities, nor just the giving up of some material item; rather, the focusing of the mind and will and soul upon God's love as revealed in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

A time of resting from whh, by meditation and prayer, we enrich our souls and renew the valid purposes of life; a time to meet with the Eternal God, our Father.

French Plane Request Gets Fresh Look

Washington (AP)—Diplomatic officials said yesterday the United States is taking a fresh look at the possibility of sending more bombers and transports to the beleaguered French in Indo-China.

A French request for more air aid, made several months ago, took on renewed emphasis in the light of two developments: The visit to Washington of Gen. Paul Ely, chief of staff of the French armed forces, and what may be a show-down battle looming at the French fortress city of Dien Bien Phu.

Some officials expressed doubt enough American planes could be flown to Indo-China, outfitted with French crews and put into action in time to make any difference in the fight for Dien Bien Phu.

Ely, who arrived Friday, will have an opportunity tomorrow to discuss the question with top American officials. He confers with Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and with President Eisenhower.

Preparedness Measures Can Be Effective

Washington (AP)—Business leaders today advised the government to be advanced plans for economic defense against any "serious" business slump, but not to use them prematurely.

The Committee for Economic Development (CED), private but influential research organization of businessmen and economists, said that while moderate economic swings are inevitable a major depression can be avoided.

The CED policy statement described the country's built-in defenses against economic decline as being "stronger—stronger than ever before—but they can be strengthened further."

It cautioned, however, that it would be hazardous to use tax cuts or public works in dealing with "small, short and uncertainly forecast recessions."

"The stimulating effect would probably not start until the need for it had passed," it said, "and would continue even though it created a danger of inflation."

The committee acknowledged it couldn't set up a yardstick for determining when strong medicine is needed. It emphasized that the seriousness of an economic decline "cannot be simply measured by one figure—the number of unemployed."

It urged a dozen preparedness measures on industry and all levels of government, but emphasized that a "temporary cut in federal taxes" would be the most immediately effective method of restoring demand in a major downturn.

Walter Votes To Commit Tax Measure

Washington (AP)—Pennsylvania House members voted 17 to 13 this past week against sending the tax revision bill back to committee and raising exemptions.

The recomittal motion was designed to eliminate a provision providing for a reduction of the tax on dividend income and to substitute a provision to raise personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $700. The motion was defeated 210 to 204.

All 11 Pennsylvania Democrats and two Republicans, Reps. Saylor and Van Zandt, voted for recomittal. Seventeen Republicans voted against it.

On passage of the bill, 339 to 80, the state's 19 Republicans and seven Democrats — Reps. Barrett, Byrne, Chudoff, Granahan, Morgan, Rhodes and Walter — voted yes. Four Democrats — Reps. Buchanan, Eberhart, Green and Kelley — voted no.

Presbyterians Name Wyckoff

Democrats Hope To Benefit From McCarthy-Stevens Row; 'Wholly GOP' Mess

Washington (AP)—Democrats indicated yesterday they expect to benefit politically from a Senate probe of the McCarthy-Stevens row.

"This is wholly a Republican mess," Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), who will have a major role in the inquiry, said. He added that "all the principals in the hearings are Republicans or under Republican control."

He said he referred to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Secretary of the Army, Roy Cohn, chief counsel for McCarthy's investigations subcommittee, and John G. Adams, Army attorney aiding Stevens.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who will direct the Senate inquiry, disputed McClellan's contention it was a "Republican mess." He said Cohn, the subcommittee counsel, "is a Democrat."

Cohn, who has figured directly in the exchange of charges and countercharges between McCarthy and Stevens camps, is expected to be replaced by an outside lawyer for the inquiry.

Asked if Republicans might be damaged politically by the forthcoming investigation, Mundt said: "I would not know until we find out what happens. Up to now it has not helped either side."

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall commented that

McCarthy Suggests Use Of Lie Detector Machine For Subcommittee Hearings

Washington (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) suggested the use of lie detector tests yesterday as a way to get at the truth in his controversy with Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

He said that when the Senate Investigations subcommittee meets Tuesday, he intends to recommend that it ask all witnesses, including himself, whether they would be willing to submit to a lie detector test in its probe of the sensation-packed case.

Turns Rifle On Himself After Shot

A Canadensis soldier broke into a Scranton tavern early yesterday to kill his estranged wife with a rifle, then turned the weapon on himself.

The dead soldier was identified as Sgt. Robert Claude Heckman, 26, stationed at Westover Air Force Base, Mass.

Det. Capt. E. J. Kelly of Scranton said Heckman's wife, Helen, was a waitress at Reif's cafe.

The shooting occurred after the cafe had closed. Mrs. Heckman had stayed on to talk with some friends, Kelly said.

A few hours earlier Heckman had visited his 22-year-old wife at the home of her parents in North Scranton. He attempted a reconciliation, said Kelly.

The couple was married four years ago and have a child, Peter, 3.

After the unsuccessful attempt at reconciliation, Kelly said, Mrs. Heckman went to the cafe.

When Heckman arrived later he smashed a glass panel in the front door with his high-powered rifle, said Kelly. Then he reached inside, unlocked the door, entered, and killed his wife, police said.

He put the muzzle of the rifle against his own chest and pulled the trigger. Death was instantaneous, Kelly said.

In Monroe County Sgt. Heckman figured in an involuntary manslaughter case in 1952, when he was one of the witnesses to testify in connection with the death of his uncle, Floyd W. Heckman, 51, Canadensis. Charged as the driver was Sgt. Heckman's father, Claude. The grand jury dismissed the involuntary manslaughter charge and returned a true bill on the charge of failing to stop at an accident scene.

Child Reports Mass Slaying

Wichita (AP)—"Daddy opened the door and pointed the gun at us and it went boom, boom—then I went to sleep," a courageous 7-year-old girl told police yesterday after her beserk father killed his wife, himself and wounded his two children.

Police said John K. Leidy, 38, Wichita, last night shot and wounded his daughter Linda Sue Leidy, 7, and her 2½-year-old brother, John Scott, while they were bathing after killing his wife, Rosemary, 35.

He then shot himself in the head with the .45 caliber automatic pistol.

Police were unaware of the tragedy until shortly after 1 a.m. yesterday when Linda Sue telephoned police and told the dispatcher, "Daddy has shot mother and hurt himself."

Atomic Research Will Make War Impossible Soon

Duesseldorf, Germany (AP)—The man who invented Nazi Germany's V2 rocket said yesterday he thinks atomic research will make war impossible within the next 12 months.

Prof. Hermann Oberth said that by then it will be possible to reach any point on the globe within 45 minutes with atom bomb-loaded rockets.

"This means that in case of war all big cities of the enemy can be destroyed within two or three hours. Personally, I definitely believe that then no minister will decide himself for a war because he would sign his own death sentence at the same time."

Oberth addressed the German Society for Space Research, of which he is honorary president.

Oberth also spoke of giant "space mirrors" focusing sunlight on the globe which could theoretically turn night into day, free the Arctic Seas of ice and make possible an additional harvest yearly.

Joint Board Turns Down Matamoras

Milford-Delaware Valley Joint School Board turned down the Matamoras proposal for a jointure with its five member districts last week.

Matamoras school directors had voted to join if the proposed new secondary school were erected in that borough. The borough board also wanted voting power determined by the number of pupils from each district.

On both these counts and a third asking the jointure to equip and maintain a cafeteria in the present Matamoras school—the joint board expressed dissatisfaction.

In another action the joint board voted to submit Westfall Township as the fifth member of its group. Westfall had previously asked to be allowed to enter the jointure.

Good Land Use Calls For Tile Drainage Work

By: A. Norman Dietrick
SCS Technician

Good land use sometimes calls for tile drainage on cropland.

It is recognized as one of the soil conservation practices because it often makes possible the reclaiming of idle and unproductive wet areas where there is little or no danger of soil erosion. This may solve the problem of increased acreage for intensive cultivation without plowing up the steeper slopes on certain farms.

Early spring is the best season of the year to plan and locate a tile drainage system since the source of the water can be more easily and more accurately determined. A survey and design should be made before installing the tile. The survey will determine the size of the needed, the grade and outlet.

Quite often it is advisable to use diversion terraces in conjunction with the tile system to handle the surface water. Strip cropping may also be needed above the wet area to hold the water and permit more of it to infiltrate into the soil.

Completion of the drainage work is being carried out on the Koehler and Smith farm near Kunkletown. In addition, a diversion terrace has been staked out for construction in the near future.

Lackawanna Police Solve Regional Freight Car Robberies

Truck Driver Arrested In Investigation

Leroy Treible, a 30-year-old Analomink truck driver, was jailed Saturday on charges of burglarizing Delaware, Lackawanna and Western refrigerator cars.

Treible was arrested at his home at 10 a.m. Saturday by D.L.W. detectives. He later confessed burglaries which occurred on Jan. 15, Feb. 6 and March 19. Also involved in the burglaries, according to confessions given to the detectives, is a 15-year-old juvenile from the same area.

Officers making the arrest were Harold D. Larson, local detective for the railway, Capt. John Ast-falk and Lt. William D. Hape, detectives from the Scranton office of the road.

Investigation of the burglaries had been underway for three months. Lackawanna detectives gave the following report last night: On Friday night, March 19, the regular BH4 train Buffalo to Hoboken, number 4, stopped at the Analomink yard. It was 9:35 p.m. Conductor on the train was J. Ruane. Engineer was W. Pot-terton. The train stopped for "about 20 minutes," then continued on its run. On arrival at Hoboken officials found three refrigerator cars on the train had been pil-fered. Seals on all three cars were broken and some frozen food had been removed.

Larson, who lives in East Stroudsburg, was notified early Saturday morning. Assisted by his son, Harold Larson Jr., the detective went to the Analomink yard. He found tracks in the soft ground leading from the point where the cars were entered. The two men traced the tracks to a house near the stop.

Near the house they found a seal from one of the entered cars. The two men returned to East Stroudsburg; secured a search warrant from Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser at 9 a.m. Ast-falk and Hape joined the two men at this point and the quartet returned to the house at Analomink.

Thorough search of the home the detectives recovered part of the goods taken from the train the night before. Discovered during the search were several cases of frozen peas taken from the cars on Friday night; part of a case of meat stolen from another train at an earlier date. Cans discovered outside the house had contained frankfurters and other goods previously stolen. The cans were empty.

Saturday afternoon, after questioning, Treible confessed burglaries committed on these separate dates. The burglaries, he told officials, had been committed without aid of a vehicle with the exception of the first, and largest "haul," police said. Treible told detectives he and the boy sat in the Treible home and watched until the train pulled in, detective reported.

On arrival of the train, Treible and the youth would leave the former's home; run to the Analomink stop nearby; break the seals on the cars and remove as much material as possible before the train began to move, police charged. On Jan. 15, Treible's confession said, he and the youth entered three cars on the BH4 at about midnight. They removed 21 large cases of meat; two dressed lambs; cases of pork loin and other meat products, police said. Detectives estimated value at "over $500." On Feb. 6 at 11:20 p.m., the confession said, Treible and the boy again entered the train. This time they broke five seals on five cars of meat; removed full quarters of beef, pork. Estimated value: "over $200." On Friday night, the confession said, the two burglarized three cars taking cases of frozen peas.

This was "all we took," Treible told detectives, because it was "raining hard and the train started too quick." On the Jan. 15 job, Treible said, the couple used a car to take the goods away from the yard. On both other jobs, the man and the boy carried the stolen goods away, the confession said.

Treible was turned over to county authorities at the jail under three charges of car burglary. No bail is allowed under terms of the law governing car burglaries. Bail must be set by a judge, Larson said.

The boy—who will not reach his 16th birthday until May—was turned over to his mother by the railroad detectives. Action in his case will be determined later.

Name Omitted

The name of William E. Ransberger, re-elected tyler of East Stroudsburg Elks lodge, was inadvertently omitted from list published in Saturday's Record. He has filled that office in the lodge for many years.

Young, Allegheny and Young are now fighting for control of the New York Central Railroad. Shown with Gelinis in photo are Robert W. Baron, Barrington, Ill., the other honor student and Deegan, Allegheny's vice president.

Gelinis Given Internship With Allegheny Corp. For N.Y. Central Proxy Contest

John G. Gelinis, East Stroudsburg, now attending the Boston University School of Public Relations, has been given an appointment as a "public relations intern" with the Allegheny Corporation.

The internships are the first ever awarded in the history of corporate public relations. Gelinis shares the internship appointment with a student from Barrington, Ill.

In their positions with the corporation, the students serve without pay but will be given food and housing by the company. Both are graduate students in the school.

Thomas J. Deegan Jr., vice president of Allegheny Corp., announced the creation of the two posts yesterday.

Gelinis will work directly with Deegan for the next three months during the proxy contest between Robert R. Young, chairman of Allegheny, and the New York Central Railroad.

Young is now waging a front-page battle with the present NYC directors for control of the company. The Allegheny chairman claims support from a majority of the railroad's stockholders.

Charles Loney Continues Talks

Sunday night meetings are continuing at the local Adventist Church by the speaker, Charles E. Loney. Last night subject under discussion was, "where are our beloved dead?"

Opening his remarks Mr. Loney chose for his text Eccl. 9:5, which states "The living know that they shall die, but the dead know not anything."

He explained, man, by nature is mortal, therefore he is subject to death, and that God only is immortal. He gave this as the one basic reason why there are so many false ideas on the state of the dead, and said, "the word soul or spirit, is found in the bible 1700 times and not once is the word mortal or immortal applied to it."

Chimney Fire Is Cause Of Much Trouble

Stroudsburg Fire Department faced an unusual situation in a chimney fire at the residence of Augustus Wertheiser, 354 N. Ninth St., Saturday afternoon which required three hours to put out. Firemen made two trips to the scene.

The department was called out by an alarm sounded at 2:50 p.m. When they arrived they found the two-family chimney "warm." Powder was utilized and the firemen returned to headquarters.

At 4:30 they received a telephone call that trouble had broken out again. No alarm was sounded, but a booster truck and aerial responded. Chief Millard Marsh stated the chimney was clogged with soot and very hot.

Hose lines were dropped down the chimney and fog streams were used which utilized 600 gallons of water. It was 7:30 p.m. when they got back to headquarters, after one of the most troublesome chimney fires experienced by the firemen.

Chief Marsh stated the local department had been called to the same place and for the same cause about a year ago. Part of the chimney was torn down at that time. The property is owned by an East Stroudsburg resident, he said.

Toll Bridge Group Asked To Save Bridge

Two State senators have asked the Joint Toll Bridge Commission during the week-end not to destroy the free Route 45 bridge. They got no answer.

It was one of a long string of moves to keep the commission from demolishing or closing all competing free or toll bridges within 10 miles of the new Delaware River spans, as required by the bonding agreement.

Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., Philadelphia Republican, and Sen. Joseph Yosko, Bethlehem Democrat, appeared before the commission at its private quarterly meeting in Philadelphia.

The meeting followed a day-long inspection tour which took 18 commission members through Monroe County to take a look at the new bridges at Milford, Delaware Water Gap and Portland. The senators had a number of proposals and requests.

Proposals: One—Placing of a load limit on the free bridge, and a study to see if enough commercial traffic would be forced over the toll bridge to avoid any lag in retiring the debt. Two—Special commutation rates on the Portland bridge, and special rates for farm trucks on the Portland and Delaware Water Gap Bridges.

Three—The Toll Bridge Commission should throw its meetings open to press and public because it is supposed to "serve the public interest" and because it's multi-million dollar affairs are such big business.

Requests: One—A break-down of last year's commission disbursements of $16,969,505.90. Two—The commission should allow its records to be reviewed, by Yosko specifically, and by any other interested member of the public. Yosko said he had not been previously allowed to check the records.

At the time of the Civil War, New York had a population of more than a million, and Philadelphia had 500,000.

Prosecution Is Studied On Shooting

State Trooper Chester V. Cuddy of Bethlehem died Saturday, a week after his 13-year-old son allegedly shot him during a family quarrel.

The corporal, 49, seemed to be recuperating, although the 22-caliber bullet was still lodged against his spine.

Friday he evidently became delirious and barricaded himself in his room at St. Luke's Hospital. He was finally put to bed with a sedative.

Saturday morning the trooper's condition worsened, and in three hours he died.

The son, Chester David, reportedly shot his father at the suggestion of his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Mae Cuddy, authorities said.

The shooting allegedly occurred after the trooper began to slap his wife during a row in the couple's second-floor apartment.

Northampton County District Attorney Elias W. Spengler said Saturday night that charges of first degree murder against the boy, and against Mrs. Cuddy as an accessory, are a definite possibility.

Legion, College Arrange Blood Donor Support For Red Cross Campaign Here

The March visit of the Red Cross mobile blood donor unit to Monroe County on Wednesday of this week will be sponsored jointly by the college and the American Legion and Auxiliary, LeRoy Mikela, Monroe County chairman of the blood donor program, said last night.

At the college, the campaign for blood donors is being co-ordinated by the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity. Composed of former Boy Scouts, the fraternity is devoted to service to the community in which the college is located. They have adopted the blood donor program as one of those services. To date they have pledges signed by 70 students.

They selected the March visit as the time when the students would give. Since March is also the month when the American Legion is also sponsoring the blood donor program on a national basis, the local Legion also volunteered to co-sponsor this visit. They have to date 33 registered as donors.

The bloodmobile will be at the Legion Home on Washington Street, East Stroudsburg from 12 noon until 6 p. m. Others who wish to make donor appointments may call Red Cross headquarters, the Legion or its auxiliary, or may stop in at the blood donor center during the hours listed above.

Monroe County, which made up 60 pints in its deficit toward its quota during the visit to the Signal Depot at Tobyhanna last month, is now just 35 pints under quota for the year to date, Mr. Mikela said.

The regular monthly quota of 120 pints, plus the 35 deficit would make a total of 155 pints needed on Wednesday, and he was last night optimistic about the chances of achieving this goal.

The motor corps, canteen service, registered nurses, nurses aides, Grey Ladies, and administration aides and other volunteer services will be on duty on Wednesday to speed the program.

Truck Upsets, Children Hurt

Palmerton — A truck crashed into a culvert on Legislative Route 13014, two miles east of here Saturday afternoon, and rolled over.

Two children riding in the cab were bruised and shaken. They were Lester, 11, and Violet, 13, children of driver Peter Reser, Palmerton RD 1. The youngsters were taken to Palmerton Hospital for treatment, said Lehigh State police.

Bethlehem State police said that as of last night no such charges had been filed.

Deputy County Coroner Russell Rinker has ordered an autopsy, according to Dr. Edward Benz, St. Luke's pathologist, who will perform the autopsy at 9 a. m. today.

One Week Left

Next Saturday voter registration for the May 18 primary election will close.

If you have not registered, your time to sign up is growing short. And if you fail to register you will be depriving yourself of a voice in selection of nominees for important public offices which will be filled in the November elections.

This fall Pennsylvania will elect a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, three judges of the State Superior Court, members of Congress from all districts, all members of the State House of Representatives and half the members of the State Senate.

It is of the greatest importance that voters take an active role in the primary election, which has become the politician's paradise because too many of our citizens have refrained from exercising their franchise. The hand-picking of candidates by party machines has disgusted voters to a point where they stay home as a protest. But staying home is just what the politicians want.

Don't be lackadaisical over your privilege of making your voice heard at primary time. It is not only your right, but your duty to register and vote.

Census Observation

We are a continually growing country. The Census Bureau has announced that our total U. S. population was 161,331,000 on Feb. 1. This is an increase of 2,708,000 over the same date of the preceding year.

The Census Bureau gives its interim population totals only for the country as a whole with no breakdown on separate municipalities. It would be hard to estimate the Pocono area's growth, but we strongly suspect that several thousand of this number of new Americans were downtown the other day, trying to find a place to park.

An Appeal For Children

The plight of crippled children is one that always touches the hearts of Americans.

It is one that is reflected in the continual silent prayer of every mother and father: Please keep my child safe, and strong, and well.

For the vast majority of parents, the prayer is answered.

To them an annual appeal has gone out by the Crippled Children's Association of Pennsylvania. The association has set a minimum goal. This is a minimum goal that barely will maintain the current program of the association and allow a very moderate expansion. Association officers have their fingers crossed that it will be greatly oversubscribed.

The Seal campaign for crippled children will continue until Easter Sunday, April 18.

The Easter Seal merits your seal of approval. The money you give will go a long way toward making this a far more wonderful world for some crippled child.

Refugee Admission Law Administration Faulty

Washington — President Eisenhower's hard-won law to admit 214,000 anti-Communist refugees to the U. S. is in a sad way.

Following is what certain State Department officials have somehow managed to accomplish under this widely-acclaimed law in the eight months since President Eisenhower signed it last August 7:

Permitted a total of six refugees to come to this country.

Granted visas to 50 others, but when they will be allowed to enter is unknown.

To make this record, spent $600,000 of the $2,000,000 voted by Congress for the law.

Despite the unexpended $2,400,000, are asking for an additional $1,500,000 for a total budget for this law of $4,500,000.

These disclosures were uncovered by startled members of the House Appropriations Committee at a private meeting with the two State Department officials directly in charge of administering the refugee law.

They are Scott McLeod, head of the Security Bureau, and his assistant, Robert C. Alexander.

They appeared before the Committee to explain the request for another $1,500,000. They were quickly subjected to sharp grilling by frankly critical committeemen. It is the House Armed Services Investigating Subcommittee, headed by Representative William H. R. O.

Early this year the Subcommittee unanimously adopted a set of rules to govern all its investigations. The probes did this quietly and without hoopla. They have been functioning effectively under these rules ever since. This unpublicized code is unique in congressional annals.

Following are its main provisions:

A quorum must be present at all hearings. The instant a lack of quorum develops, the chairman is required to recess the proceedings until a quorum reassembles.

Bi-partisan representation must be present at all hearings.

Witnesses may be accompanied by counsel, who can ask questions through committee-

Judicial rules on the admission of evidence will be followed wherever applicable.

Five Republicans and four Democrats comprise this notable investigating committee. In addition to Chairman Hest they are Republican Representatives Paul Cunningham, Ia.; William Bates, Mass.; Charles Nelson, Me., and Leon Gavin, Pa.; Democratic Representatives F. Edward Herbert, La.; O. C. Fisher, Tex.; Porter Hardy, Va., and L. Mendel Rivers, S. C.

George Sokolsky Says ...

Acting Adjutant General Signed Order Dealing With Communists In Service

In the argument as to whether John J. McCloy signed the directive dated Dec. 30, 1944 on the subject, "Disposition of Subversive and Disaffected Military Personnel," the answer is that it was signed by Brigadier General Robert H. Dunlop.

Acting Adjutant General. The essence of this directive is:

"No action will be taken under the reference letter that is predicated on membership in or adherence to the doctrines of the Communist Party unless there is a specific finding that the individual involved has a loyalty to the Communist Party as an organization which overrides his loyalty to the United States. No such finding should be based on the mere fact that the individual's views have been the same as the views which the Communist Party may have advanced."

However, John J. McCloy, then Assistant Secretary of War, testified before the House Special Committee on Military Affairs on February 27, 1945, as follows:

"So, General Bissell and I talked the matter over, and I talked it over in one of the war council meetings, at which the Chief of Staff, the Secretary of War and the representatives of each of the staff bureaus meet once a week, and we generally came to the conclusion reflected in the December 30 letter. We worked over the language pretty carefully in

"Mr. McCloy: Yes, sir."

"Mr. Thompson: And that no outside organization or no government agency or any person in high authority in any government agency either suggested or requested it?"

"Mr. McCloy: No."

As to the charges recently made that John J. McCloy or someone else ordered men's records destroyed, McCloy's denial was complete in the 1945 hearing. This was confirmed in the same investigation by General Clayton Bissell who, at that time, was head of G-2 (Intelligence).

At this hearing, General Bissell gave this information:

"General Bissell: We have had approximately 100,000 investigations of all types, and of those about 2,500 have related to alleged Communists."

"Mr. Thompson: How many of them have been discharged?"

"General Bissell: Of alleged Communists, we have discharged two."

In this investigation, General Bissell said:

"... It revolves around the definition of a Communist. It is not clear. I wish it were clearer. I wish we had a clearer expression of what a Communist is ..."

Perhaps in this one citation lies all our difficulties. By 1945, when this investigation was held, the literature on Communism, defining the subject, was enormous, beginning with the Communist Manifesto of 1848, running thru the writings of Marx, Engels, Lenin, Plekhanov, Bukharin, Stalin and a host of others in many countries. The literature is positive and understandable. General Bissell is an intelligent man; it is difficult to believe that he would not be familiar with this literature.

The transcript of the record of the 1945 hearing is bulky and I can quote no more from it here. I wish to assure the reader that I have scrupulously avoided taking anything out of context.

In the new Howard-Lindsay Russell Crouse melodrama "The Prescott Proposals," Miss Katherine Cornell, enacting a U. S. delegate to the UN, comes up with a proposal to end the world's tensions. Instead of running around and carping about their differences, the nations of the world would be wise to explore their "areas of agreement," says Prescott nee Cornell.

Oversimplified though this theory may be it shows some merit. And, although it might never work with world powers, it has a definite application to the small communities which make up each nation.

Take, for example, those two alien governments which lie on either side of Brodhead's Creek. They're really quite similar; even have the same name. Only difference visible is that one lies east and one lies west of the aforementioned body of water. Rudyard Kipling, a wise man and true, who was devoted to the mysteries of the Orient, once came forth with the brilliant deduction that "east is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet." Kipling was talking through his hat as nearly everyone now realizes.

There is room for differences of opinion in the two boroughs, yet each of them believes in approximately the same things. Both want better schools, better highways, better business. The methods for getting these things may vary; but the ends are the same.

Most of the time residents of the two places seem to concentrate on the slight differences rather than the major purpose. After some research on the problem of the big reasons for this tendency to detract rather than unify, it seems to me, is the physical separation of the two boroughs by a creek and the bridge across it. One ironbound booster for one of the two boroughs recently told me there was "a world of difference between the two towns." Although I respect his opinion, I'm afraid I fail to see that crossing that bridge should give anyone the feeling he is entering another country.

One solution to the problem could be the diverting of Brodhead's Creek. Maybe if it bypassed both towns things would get better. Once the physical symbol of separation were done away with the next step would be to fill in the creek bed and tear down the bridge. Then, first thing you know, some enterprising soul will build a business right smack in the middle of the creek line; somebody else will follow suit and the "line" will begin to disappear.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Well, we are home again, after traveling exactly 3,001 miles, and HOME with all its defects looks better to us than it ever did before.

It seems to me that the best way to appreciate ANYTHING after having used it for a while is to be without it for a few weeks.

That applies to a wife, a husband, a home, the children, your automobile, your television set or anything else to which you have become accustomed and which has become a little monotonous by constant use.

Though our early spring weather may be dismal, before me are a lot of brightly colored postcards of sunny Florida. We have developed a new habit. We used to take snapshots of all the pretty places we visited. Interesting as it is, this picture taking business is just a bit too complicated for my taste and for my wife's, too. Perhaps it's just that we are getting old.

So, we now do what a magazine article recently recommended. In every place to which we go, we get postcards of the most interesting scenes and mail them to ourselves with a few words of explanation. We say how we liked the place, what we paid for accommodations and meals, mention interesting people we met and so forth and so on.

There is one thing lacking, though. None of these postcards have US in them and, as you know, no snapshot is complete without YOU or your wife or the kids in it.

However, since my wife and I know pretty well by this time what we look like, a Key West scene, for instance, is just as pretty without me in it, pointing at a boat way out in the distance.

There is no palm tree anywhere near our place in Connecticut. There is no warm sunshine yet, there are no dazzling flowers in bloom, no bathing beauties cavorting on the beach. There is no beach.

But neither was it our HOME in Miami, in Fort Lauderdale, in St. Augustine, or any other place we visited on this or any other trip.

Try and Stop Me

A big movie-star's personal maid knocked on the door of her portable dressing room and called, "Miss Glanourpus, there's a bishop out here who says he married you in 1943."

"That's funny," mused Miss Glanourpus. "I'm practically certain I never married a bishop."

"Where's the boss?" asked a salesman as he entered a store for the first time. A bored clerk told him, "Go through that door back there marked 'No Admittance.' Then go through another door that says 'Keep out.' Turn left and follow the corridor till you see a sign reading 'Silence.' Then yell for him."

A lad at Harvard claims to have discovered a bit of unrecorded dialogue between Julius Caesar and his false friend, Brutus. The latter asked Caesar, "How many bagels with lox did you consume this morning, Julius, old boy?"

The answer, as you may have suspected, was "Et tu, Brutus."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Chaperoning a judge at a beauty contest turned out to be a right pleasant occupation for a Saturday afternoon though everybody was making such a fuss over our Les that I really had my work cut out for me.

Earl Wilson, author and columnist, was the chief judge and Les reported him to be a regular guy. And so, incidentally, is his wife, Rosemary, whose cousin is thinking about moving to Stroudsburg when she retires as a school teacher in Wilkes-Barre.

Because, she said, "It always seems like such a friendly town." I thought you'd be interested in how you impress people who are passing through.

Press photographers are a friendly bunch, too, and that movie they made of the day-to-day activities of a press photographer's life was an excellent one. Les Carlton was in it, too, as the "dean of the Scranton district."

Anyway it was a big day with flash bulbs popping all over the place, and lots of newspaper people and politicians and, of course, all the pretty girls.

Speaking of pretty girls, we had our share of them over the weekend too with weddings and dinners and parties galore. This is a fourth week, and looked for a while like an easy one—but the meetings are starting to pile up and we'd better get to our reporting.

Many dignitaries of the VFW and its auxiliary were present to pay tribute to Mrs. Albertson. Among the guests were Mrs. Florence Anderson, of Harrisburg, executive secretary and treasurer of the Pennsylvania Department. Mrs. Anderson reviewed the work of Mrs. Albertson, and paid tribute to her leadership in district 20 which is now leading the state in membership. Mrs. Anderson also recalled the instituting of the Auxiliary of Thomas P. Lambert Post in 1943 which she had attended and which broke all records both national and departmental. Auxiliary 2540 is still making and breaking records, Mrs. Anderson said.

Chestnuthill Red Cross Team Is Announced

Mrs. Homer Shupp, captain of Chestnuthill Township's 1954 Red Cross Fund Campaign, has announced the names of the workers who are assisting her in the township neighborhoods. The township's share of the $13,000 county quota is $300.

The workers include: Mrs. Blanche Shotwell, Mrs. Hannah Shupp, Miss Dorothy Feller, Mrs. Audrey Hannon, Mrs. Glendora Snyder, Mrs. George Greenamoyer, Mrs. Mary Hoffman, Mrs. Carolyn Heist, Mrs. William Kresge, Mrs. William Gethen, Mrs. Emma Reinhart, Mrs. Florence Adams, Mrs. Arlene McNett, Miss Nancy Kresge and Miss Dorothy McNeal.

The average person has about six quarts of blood.

My, but the weather man was in a mood for the first day of Spring, wasn't he? Only a very bitter personality would set out to croak the first crocus, seems to me. What do you think? . . . When spring arrives, vacation's close behind, and traveling can be pretty difficult—particularly with children—unless you have plenty of luggage and a big carry-all. Ideal for cramming with odds and ends are those tremendous bags of black leather adopted almost unanimously by our Wyckoff buyers—but they cost $25. The imported tan leather bags in our accessories department, are also wonderful, but there again the price is higher than many of us can afford. A very attractive and inexpensive solution is the knitting bag, of which we now have a stunning assortment in our art goods aisle. The price of many is under $3. My personal choice is of heavy turquoise brocade with gold handle. It will accompany me to the circus to take care of all those souvenirs the children will surely buy, and if that Bermuda flight materializes, it'll fly high with all those gimmicks and gadgets one always needs and usually forgets. . . . Beatrice Gorgy is still out of the picture with a bad case of laryngitis that just missed being pneumonia. During her absence Mina Warwick is being assisted by Bea's sister, Ruth Barnard. They tell me that our spring-minded customers are really thrilled by our thousands of new handkerchiefs. Rightly too, for they're sprinkled with roses, lilacs, violets, shamrocks, poppies, and any other flower you might name. Many of them are priced at 50 cents and less, while others—extra large and of the finest linen—are $1. Of one thing I'm sure, when Spring goes to your head, your hanky usually goes to your nose, so it should be a pretty one. . . . Most delightful customers were Holt Wyckoff's twins, Tom and Mike, excitedly selecting birthday gifts for their mother. . . . Probably the prettiest sight of Stroudsburg was our dinner hour fashion show, MC'd by Bill Wells. One of the most discussed coats was the feather-soft white dachon that had been washed in our Easy washer and dried in our Frigidaire dryer. So successfully did it come up to the manufacturer's claims for it, no one would have guessed it had ever been off the rack before. . . . What's this we hear about Beulah Fellenner? Our Beulah—usually so capable and efficient at the Fountain—stayed home on the farm last week to look after the chickens. But rumor has it, that she worked like a house afire, and ended with a field afire. "The trouble is," her husband is quoted, "that since she's been going to town every day Mother just isn't a country girl anymore." . . . Gloria Bonser tells me that our customers have been very interested in the old-fashioned pin-on watches being worn by our costumed 75th anniversary hostesses. "Are they your own?" the girls have been asked, and "What about that cameo ring—is it really old?" As a matter of fact, Gloria's ring is very old, having begun its glamorous existence as a cuff link for her grandfather, great uncle, or some such kinsman. And her solid gold bracelet belonged to a grandmother. I wouldn't doubt that our two bellies have been responsible for quite a few women customers searching through attics and old trinket boxes. . . . Moss roses on china from Japan are particularly charming in a cigarette set, the box of which represents a closed book, while the individual trays are small, open books. Heart-shaped big and little boxes are available too, as are china chests, violet sprayed, standing on miniature legs. These sets are $1 complete, and are perfect companions for cherry chairs, marble top tables, and Gone-with-the-Wind lamps. . . . Are you watching our Wyckoff ads each morning and listening to our daily radio program at 9:45 for anniversary specials? You should, you know. A daily visit to the store is as good as ready money during our birthday celebration, because many of our specials aren't even advertised.

Frank Miller Has Guided Steady Growth

Some 54 years ago this week a small retail furniture store opened for business on North Ninth St., Stroudsburg. It marked the beginning of one of the most progressive and fast-growing enterprises in this area.

Begun by the late Ambrose C. Miller, the store has grown into one of the largest retail furniture outlets in this section.

The furniture business flourished from the beginning for A. C. Miller and after several years the store was moved to the corner of Main and Fourth Sts., Stroudsburg.

Under the guiding hand of Frank Miller, who assumed ownership of the business in 1941 after his uncle's death, the store facilities were greatly expanded and the business continued to grow.

Today the A. C. Miller store occupies approximately 19,000 square feet of floor space and has 600 square feet of window display area. To keep such a business in operation and keep abreast of demands for all types of merchandise, some 6,500 square feet of warehouse space is used.

The store's advertising slogan is "There's Something New Every Day". The daily influx of new merchandise and home delivery service keep the A. C. Miller staff constantly on the go. Many lines of merchandise are only on display a short while before they're taken off the floor for delivery. This type of rapid turnover always assures the customer of fresh, new merchandise and better choice.

A. C. Miller carries a complete line of furniture for kitchen, nursery, living room, dining room, bedroom and den. And right now you can see all the latest types of outdoor and summer furniture.

On the second floor the store features a varied selection of drapes, curtains, and slipcovers.

A. C. Miller also carries a large selection of rugs and broomcloths carpeting. In fact, right now the store is in the midst of its biggest broomcloth sale.

Mr. Miller said he is selling out completely on both the 9- and 12-ft. widths of broomcloth.

Other departments include bedding, chinaware, small appliances, luggage, lamps and toys.

Throughout the store you'll find nationally famous and nationally advertised brand names. The list of these popular names, each representing a customer-approved product, is too numerous to mention.

Visit A. C. Miller's and browse through the many departments... you'll find this modern furniture store a homemaker's dream.

HEAR YE, HEAR YE! A choice bit of gossip—or maybe just the news of Wyckoff's 79th Anniversary celebration—is related by Anna Haller to Gloria Bonser during this tele-tete caught by the candid camera. Mrs. Haller, of the Wyckoff sales personnel, and Mrs. Bonser, of the credit office, were chosen as official hostesses for the nine day celebration which opened last Thursday. Early morning customers are served cups of steaming coffee by the hoop-skirted belles, and in the afternoon their promenades along Main St. provoke questions and comment. The anniversary sale continues throughout this week in Stroudsburg's "Friendly Store Where Thrifty Folks Like to Shop."

Scotchlite Sheeting Useful

Have you ever noticed the many reflective signs that line the highways—the kind which seem to stab through the darkness with vivid, glowing colors?

The reason behind this sparkling nighttime brilliance is "SCOTCHLITE," sold in this area by Paint Service Center, 517 Main St., the authorized distributor in this locality.

Motorists can't fail to see this brilliant reflection on road signs at night. Light rays from car headlights are at eye level to the driver and other passengers—and are returned straight back to them from equipment and signs reflectorized with "Scotchlite."

Signs made of this brilliant material have a greater visibility both day and night.

Eight Members Of Family Die In Fire

Sheffield, Ala. (AP)—Eight members of a Sheffield family, including five small children, died yesterday in a fire that destroyed their frame home.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Boatwright, 36 and 25 years old; Mrs. Boatwright's mother, Mrs. Clara McDonald, 59; and the Boatwright children, Wanda, 7, Glenda, 6, Clarence, 5, J. T., 4, and Stephen, 2.

Mrs. Boatwright was expecting another child in June, Boatwright was an ornamental worker.

Neighbors noticed the fire about midnight but the house was wrapped in flames before they could turn in an alarm.

Wanda, the oldest child, fled from the burning dwelling and was found lying in the back yard by a neighbor, Mitchell Bradley. Glenda, Clarence and Mrs. McDonald were pulled from the flames but all four died later.

Mr. and Mrs. Boatwright and the other children died in the burning house. The bodies of the parents were found in bed.

Sheffield Fire Chief James T. Treadwell said the fire apparently started in the vicinity of the parents' bed, perhaps from a cigarette, and spreaded there.

Wayward Husbands Caught

Harrisburg (AP)—The Commonwealth yesterday credited a new state law with aiding in tracking down a number of fugitive husbands whose families are on relief rolls.

Mrs. Eleanor Evans, secretary of public assistance, said leads were picked up on 425 men through social security offices in other states through a uniform support law passed by the 1953 legislature.

She said in a weekend statement that law, along with a companion act known as the Pennsylvania Civil Procedural Support Law had been helpful in forcing abandoning family heads to support their dependents.

Under this legislation, Mrs. Evans said, a judge in a county where the husband is living whether in Pennsylvania or elsewhere can issue a support order against him.

Two very interesting basketball games are on tap for the semi-final round of the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament at Stroudsburg High tonight. The opening clash, between Stroudsburg Typewriter Co. and the Stroudsburg Poconos, is probably drawing more interest than any single Gold Medal game in the past eight years. The tournament, thus far, has enriched the treasury of the Varsity "S" Club by $50. All proceeds from tournament games go directly to the club as part of a fund raising campaign.

Palmerton High School, one of the annual basketball powers in the Lehigh Valley League, was eliminated from the Bloomsburg Invitational Tournament by St. Gabriel's High, Hazleton, last Thursday night. St. Gabriel's quintet, coached by Joe Konakowski, former football star at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, won the tournament contest in overtime, 61-50. Palmerton won the second half title in the Lehigh Valley League during the past campaign, but fell before Slatington, first half king, in a play-off encounter.

Ernest "Duke" Landgraf, president of the class "D" North Atlantic League before the circuit folded, was the featured speaker at a banquet sponsored by the Allentown Patriots, well known baseball club in the Allentown area, Friday night. East Stroudsburg State Teachers College was listed for a morning and afternoon baseball workout on Saturday. The Warriors launch the campaign on Saturday, April 3, against Trenton Teachers. The game will be played on the Norma Hill field.

The largest crowd of the season to witness a Pocono Mountains Basketball League demonstration this season was on hand at Tobyhanna Township High School's gymnasium Friday, when an attendance of 200 was reported. The circuit made more than $20 on the bargain attraction. Another good crowd at tonight's final tussle, featuring Gray's Chevrolet and Williams Pharmacy, would enable the league to close its books on a good financial campaign. Williams Pharmacy was the only team in the circuit to defeat Gray's quintet during the second half of the campaign.

Last Monday's meeting of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League reportedly had its exciting moments, during which heated words flew thick and fast. But, it was also learned that the gathering ended on a peaceful note and that the circuit did accomplish a lot of business. Probably the best thing that came out of the most recent of regular monthly meetings is the fact that circuit officers will no longer be able to represent teams at meetings. This has been a sore spot among many of the entries for several years.

Although this scribe hasn't seen the newly adopted by-laws of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League, I understand they really have teeth for a change. I hope they do away with problems such as those that have split the circuit during the past two campaigns. I hope the people of Monroe County will attend the fund raising problems of the various baseball teams this spring, as this money will be used by local diamond organizations to operate during the coming campaign.

Slatington High's basketball squad will enjoy a week's vacation in Florida, now that the Lehigh Valley League quintet has been eliminated from the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association state playoffs. While on the subject of Slatington it might be interesting to note that the Slators will play Mt. Carmel High in football in the 1954 season. The contest, listed for September, will be the first of the campaign for the Carmelites. Lehigh Valley Sports Shop, a basketball team that holds two decisions over Biggs' Restaurant this season, was eliminated from the Edwards Memorial Tournament, at the Freedland YMCA. The Sports Shop was knocked out of competition by Woodie's Luncheonette, of Freedland, 85-77.

The Pennsylvania State American Legion Junior baseball championships will be held at Allentown's Breardon Field this year, from August 25 to 29. As soon as the Pocono Mountains Basketball League completes its post-season tournament at Tobyhanna Township High school, Ray Davies will get down to serious business as manager of the Tannersville entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League. Ray served as president of the basketball circuit during the campaign just completed. Hackettstown Downs Barrett In Oxford Cage Tourney

Daily Record Presented With Forfeit Victory

Oxford, N. J. — One Monroe County basketball team was awarded a forfeit victory and a second suffered defeat in the opening round of the Oxford Lions Club Invitation Tournament held here at Central School Saturday night.

Hackettstown rolled to a 76-55 victory in the first of two games, while The Daily Record was awarded a forfeit 2-0 victory over I. B. Miller Builders. The Builders failed to put in an appearance for the game.

The Record now earns the right to oppose Pen Arty, defending title holder, in the quarter-final round tomorrow night.

Hackettstown withstood a wild third period by Barrett to win in the opening game of the tournament and also march into the quarter final round opposite the host Oxford cage machine.

Scoring
The Hackettstown contingent constructed an 18-9 lead in the first 10 minutes of action and moved into a 36-20 advantage at the halfway mark, after building an 18-11 advantage in the second period.

Barrett, paced by Stan Cheslock, opened fire in the third period and ran wild for a 24-15 edge. The Monroe County quintet was on the short end of a 51-44 score.

Hackettstown came back to make certain of a quarter-final round berth with a 25-11 advantage in the final period.

Barrett made good on 11 of 25 foul shots, while Hackettstown converted 18 of 34 free throws. The winning team held a 29-22 advantage in the field goal department.

Cheslock led the Barrett attack with 18 points, but the big noise of the contest was Silus "Keppy" Wade, who registered 31 tallies. Today's first round action will pitting the Brown-Lynch American Legion Post, of Easton, against Blairtown, in the opening game, while Portland and the Normal Hill Marauders clash in the nightcap. First game action is slated for 7 p. m., while the second contest gets underway at 8:30 p. m.

Interesting Bouts Highlight Week's Card Of Ring Events

New York (AP) — A return bout between Danny Nardico and Charley Norkus, the American debut of Germany's undefeated "Bud" Scholz, and a welterweight clash between Italo Scorticini and Carmine Fiore features the week's boxing program.
Norkus, a 187-pound heavyweight from Bayonne, N.J., stopped Nardico, a 181-pounder, in the ninth round of an eight-knockdown brawl in Miami Beach two months ago. They're still talking about that fight in Florida.
Norkus floored the seventh-ranked light heavy from Tampa six times but was dropped twice himself.

Senators Nip Tigers, 10-9

Orlando, Fla. (AP) — Dick Marlowe walked Clyde Vollmer with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to enable the Washington Senators to defeat Detroit 10-9 yesterday.

Rally
The Tigers held a 9-8 lead entering the last of the ninth, but, with one out, pinch-hitter Jim Busby singled off Al Aber. Jerry Snyderer running for the lame-legged Busby, went all the way to third base on a wild pitch and scored after Pete Runnels flied to Don Lund in left. Roy Sievers' single and a walk to Mickey Vernon brought on Marlowe, who walked Vollmer on five pitches.

Tampa, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds yesterday turned back 5-3 a record of White Sox rookies and reserves in a loosely played exhibition baseball game.

Gold Medal Court Tourney Reaches Semi-Final Round

Two games that promise plenty of thrills are on the semi-final round of the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament entering its third day of activity on the Stroudsburg High School court tonight.

Opening game activity will send Stroudsburg Typewriter against The Stroudsburg Poconos, at 7 p. m., while Missis A. C. and City Cut Rate clash in the nightcap, at approximately 8:15 p. m.

Stroudsburg Typewriter earned its semi-final berth with a brilliant shooting demonstration and victory over Pocono Gardens Lodge last Tuesday, 85-71.

The Poconos took the measure of Jack's Market without much trouble in the first round, 76-53.

City Cut Rate fought off a late spur by Newman's Dress Shop to win its opening round battle, 71-56, while Missis A. C. rolled to a convincing 96-74 verdict over Bachman Oil in the first tournament outing for both teams.

Winners in tonight's games will reach the final round of the eight-team tournament, probably Wednesday night.

Gray's Chevrolet Tangles With Pharmacy For Crown

Pocono Pines—Gray's Chevrolet will attempt to add the Pocono Mountains Basketball League Tournament to its regular season crown tonight, when the championship four-day tournament reaches its final round.

Gray's Chevrolet, winner of the first and second half crowns during the regular season pennant race, will tangle with Williams Pharmacy in the championship game, at approximately 8:15 p. m. Johnson's Diner and West End will battle for third place in the final tourney standings in today's preliminary tussle, at 7 p. m.

Williams' Pharmacy was the only team to defeat Gray's Chevrolet in the second half of the regular season campaign, although the latter easily captured the championship.

Gray's club will be out to even matters, while Williams' contingent will attempt to prove that the victory of a few weeks ago was no accident.

Gray's quintet drew a first round bye in the tournament and then won over Johnson's Diner in the semi-final encounter, 95-66. Williams Pharmacy won over I. B. Miller Builders in the opening round, 76-57, and then drew a bye into the championship contest.

Johnson's Diner won over West End, 74-73 in the first round, but was knocked off by Gray's Chevrolet in the semi-final bracket. West End came back from its opening round setback to down I. B. Miller Builders on Friday, 108-86, to earn the right to battle Johnson's Diner for third place in the tournament field.

Mayer-Bolt Triumph In Four Ball Golf

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — Dick Mayer was steady as a rock under pressure yesterday as he sank an 18-foot putt on the first hole of a "sudden death" playoff to win the $15,000 International Four Ball Golf Tournament for himself and his partner, Tommy Bolt.

Mayer, the slender St. Petersburg, Fla., pro and Bolt, the temperamental Texan from Houston, finished the last 18-hole round in a first place tie with Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Ardmore, Okla.

Boros and Harrison had climbed out of third place into a tie for the lead with a last round score of 63, nine under par for the Normandy Shores course. Mayer and Bolt took 65 and the two teams each posted a best ball score of 238 for the 72 holes, 30 under par.

Second Shots
On the first hole of the playoff, all four golfers hit the green with their second shots. Boros was 20 feet from the cup, Harrison 25 feet, Mayer 18 feet and Bolt just six feet away.

Boros, the stocky former National Open champion, brought a roar from the gallery when he hung his ball on the lip of the cup. The aging and tired Harrison was two feet short with his shot.

Then Mayer stepped up and calmly ran down his putt for a birdie three that won the $3,000 top prize for he and Bolt and relieved Tommy of the necessity of trying for his comparatively easy birdie.

Sam Snead, the West Virginia slammer, and Jim Ferrier, the tall Australian from San Francisco, made an exciting last round bid with a 62 that lifted them from 11th place into a tie for third with 21st with Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C.

Sportsmen Seek Change

Harrisburg (AP) — A resolution calling for elimination of deer hunting in the state in 1954 was adopted by the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

At the group's semi-annual two-day meeting which closed here Saturday, it was also decided to urge that permits for the deer season in 1955 be issued through the State Revenue Department.

Among 30 resolutions passed by the representatives of some 150,000 organized Pennsylvania sportsmen was one offering "vigorous objections" to the holding of the buck deer and bear season at the same time.

Request
The State Game Commission will be asked by the Federation to eliminate the 1954 deer season "to allow the population to grow."

John Boylan, Scranton, said at least eight northeastern counties have resolved through their sportsmen's clubs "that there should be no deer season."

On the much-discussed deer permit issue, a spokesman said, "last year the permits were issued through the county treasurers' offices and there was too much favoritism. We can eliminate this by issuing them through the revenue department."

The resolution also asks that each applicant send for his permit in an individual envelope.

Mantle To Miss Opening Contest

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle's knee injury definitely will keep him out of action when the baseball season starts and he may not get into the lineup until mid-May.

Satisfied
Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins examined Mantle's knee yesterday and said it was coming along nicely but that he should not give it a serious test for three weeks.

Hawley Outlasts Matamoras To Capture Third Straight Lake Wallenpaupack Tourney Title

Hawley—Hawley captured its third straight Hawley-Lake Wallenpaupack Tournament basketball crown here on the Hawley High court on Saturday night with a convincing 70-45 verdict over Matamoras.

Saturday's victory was the 10th in the 27-year history of the tournament for Hawley, a club that won three straight once before in 1929, 1930 and 1931. Hawley has won more championships than any other school in the history of the tournament.

Crowe's Five Sweeps Four From Pat's

Crowe's Insurance snapped a prolonged slump on Saturday night and swept four points from Pat's Kiddie Shop in a Delaware Valley Bowling League match held at Harmon's Recreation.

The win enabled the East Stroudsburg keggers to vault back into at least a tie for first place in the standings. Pat's Kiddie Shop held a lead of three games over Crowe's five and Norton's Oil before Saturday's firing got underway.

Captain Jake Nittel set the spark that fired Crowe's Insurance back on top of the heap, as the veteran leadoff man rolled games of 211, 220 and 205 for a total of 636 pins.

Helping Hands
Jack Darr was the only other member of the winning team to roll over the 200 mark and the anchorman turned the trick in the final game by a margin of 14 pins. But, games of 190 and up were common place for the home team that faced the task of winning all four points or dropping out of the flag race.

Ray Everitt rolled 202, Elwood Beers came up with a pair of 202 showing and Chet Williams hit for 201 to pace the losing contingent. Crowe's five still has its work cut out in the closely contested flag race, as Norton Oil appears on Harmon's alleys next Saturday, at 8 p. m.

LaSalle Captures NCAA Cage Title

By Ben Phlegar
Kansas City (AP)—LaSalle's reluctant Explorers, who would have preferred to seek their fortune in New York, headed back to their Philadelphia home yesterday with the pot of gold they found at the end of the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball rainbow.

The Explorers won the national collegiate title in their first try Saturday night with a record smashing 92-76 triumph over the Bradley Braves of Peoria, Ill.

Success came the hard way for coach Ken Loeffler's team which survived an overtime battle in the first round to become the third east coast winner in the 16 year history of the NCAA tournament. Holy Cross in 1947 and City College of New York in 1950 were the only previous champions from the Atlantic area.

Ken Loeffler

capacity house of 10,500 but head and shoulders above the rest was All-America Tom Gola.

The 6-7 wonder boy, who puts a cat to shame with his grace and speed, was chosen as the tournament's most valuable player. He was also the only unanimous choice for the all-tournament team.

Gola's needle-threading passes, rebounding and quarter backing sent coaches and fans searching their memories in efforts to class him as "the best since..."

H. B. "Bepe" Lee, coach at the University of Colorado, and a teammate of the great "Hank" Lusetti at Stanford in the 30s, was asked whether Gola is better than Lusetti in his prime.

"I wouldn't want to say," Lee replied. "But it was worth the trip here just to see him play."

Loeffler, who has praised Gola as one of the outstanding college players of all time, was also proud of his team.

Praise

"We could have folded you know," he said. "We were behind seven points in the first half. But this team hasn't folded all year."

"It was a dogfight, a swinging match between two heavyweights. Keeping Gola in with four fouls on him made the difference in the second half. He makes things go. He has everything."

LaSalle's 92 point total was a record for a championship game and equaled the all-time high in NCAA competition. The 168 point two-team total was also a record. Penn State completed the East's triumph by taking third place from Southern California 70-61.

Bradley had dominated the first 20 minutes and led by seven points early in the second quarter but its one-point halftime lead vanished as All-America Tom Gola with brilliant help from two fine sophomores, Charles Singley and Frank Blatcher, tore open the contest between the third and eighth minutes of the third quarter.

Gola scored 19 points before he fouled out. His tip-in with 4:28 left broke the previous 80-point game record.

Farrell Halts Johnstown's Streak In PIAA Playoff Tilt

Harrisburg (AP)—Farrell and Chester, western and eastern favorites, and Meadville and Chambersburg are the semi-finalists in the month long 1954 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association basketball tournament. The Farrell Steelers, 1952 state champion, again proved the quality of competition in the WPIAL (District Seven) by halting the 26 game winning streak of Johnstown, 52-43. Meadville qualified for the other western final spot by taking the measure of Pittsburgh Westinghouse 56-41 Saturday night.

In the one eastern preliminary regional game, Chambersburg of District Three nipped Williamsport 56-54. Chester, District One, the team that dethroned 1953 state finalist Yeoman, entered the eastern final last week by licking Slatington in an initial inter-district game.

Here's the schedule of this week's windup of the class "A" eliminations:

Wednesday Farrell (26-2) vs. Meadville (28-1) at Pittsburgh; and Chester (24-2) vs. Chambersburg (24-2) at Hershey in the regional finals.

Saturday—Farrell-Meadville winner vs. Chester-Chambersburg winner, at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra, Philadelphia.

Farrell fought off repeated Johnstown threats to win the game billed as one of the best of the year. Johnstown, went into the game as the only undefeated class "A" team in the state and was fighting a 13 year jinx which has seen the District Six representative eliminated in the western semi-finals every time.

DEDICATORY PROCESSION preceded ceremony for the first unit of new educational building of St. John's Lutheran Church yesterday. Heading line is Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen, pastor (left) and Rev. Dr. C. First Unit Of New Sunday School Building Dedicated St. John's Lutheran Church

The first unit of the new educational building of St. John's Lutheran Church, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen, pastor, was dedicated following the regular morning service yesterday. Rev. Dr. C. M. Cooper, of Philadelphia, president of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, conducted the dedicatory ceremony.

Dr. Cooper delivered the sermon based on the text from Luke 11:28: "But he said, yea rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it."

The occasion, he said, marked a milestone of progress of enlargement and improvement to hear the word of God.

Dr. Cooper said the ministerium rejoiced at the progress marking the combined efforts of the pastor, vestry, Sunday School leaders, classes and others and extended greetings.

Dr. Cooper emphasized his visit was also in connection with action of the ministerium to have representatives visit the various churches and point out the response to requests for benevolences to extend the work of the church. In this connection he commended St. John's congregation for having met its goal over the years, notwithstanding gradual increases from year to year.

At the conclusion of the church service a procession marched singing "Open New Thy Gates of Beauty" down outside the church to the door leading into the new educational unit. There the keys were turned over by Harold T. Hinkler, representing the architects, Hinkler and Kiefer, to Rev. Wohlsen, who unlocked and opened the doors.

The procession was led by Dr. Cooper and Rev. Wohlsen. The members of the vestry, the combined church choirs, officers and teachers of the Church School and other units and congregation followed.

Dedicatory prayer and act of dedication were given by Dr. Cooper who also pronounced the benediction.

The new unit of the educational building and equipment, redecoration, etc., cost $27,000. In addition to the new unit, the main school and primary rooms were redecoration. All new furnishings were installed, this work costing $2,100. The building contracts totaled $19,900.

Many special gifts and materials have been made in connection with the refurbishing of the three departments from individuals, church organizations and classes, all of which are acknowledged by the pastor and vestry of the church.
